Overview

The market for environmentally-friendly inks is growing globally as governments worldwide continue to address the health and environmental concerns associated with conventional solvent-based inks. Their new regulations call for dramatic reductions of volatile organic compounds (VOCs) containing Hazardous Air Pollutants (HAPs) into the environment. Graphics One is a proud participant for the drive for eco friendly solutions by offering the Mutoh MUBIO inks, a breakthrough in ink technology. The ink is recognized by the U.S. EPA's Design for the Environment (DfE) program. The MUBIO inks have an outstanding color gamut with excellent light fastness and allow users the possibility to print directly onto low-cost standard available uncoated PVC and scrim banner media.

Ideal Applications

Application possibilities encompass production of photo-realistic prints, POP displays, corrugated plastics, polystyrene, PVC, acrylic, polycarbonate, foam board, aluminum composite as well as long-term outdoor graphics, posters, banners, street furniture, backlit displays, metal, canvas, vinyl, wall murals, signs, stickers and much more.

Features
